FUNDAMENTALS OF CLINICAL EDUCATION

THE LANDSCAPE OF ORAL HEALTH EDUCATION IS SHIFTING.

- ✦ The number of women on dental faculty is rising
- ✦ 35% of full-time faculty come from private practice
- ✦ The student body is more diverse than ever before

While clinicians bring valuable experience to education programs, skills must be adapted to create an effective learning environment.

Fundamentals of Clinical Education is an online certificate program designed to orient and prepare new and transitioning clinical faculty to be effective predoctoral, postgraduate, and allied dental educators.

This certificate program provides participants the flexibility of an at-your-pace online learning experience taught by faculty from Penn Dental Medicine and AAL.

Ideal for new, part-time, and transitioning faculty members, the program is comprised of five learning modules covering crucial topics in dental and allied health education.

Each module utilizes video, lectures, interviews, simulations, and assessments to provide comprehensive training on each subject.

TOPICS COVERED

- ✦ Techniques for Effectively Communicating with Students and Understanding Different Learning Styles
 - ✦ Cultural Competencies and the Changing Landscape of Dental & Dental Hygiene Education
- ✦ Techniques for Student Motivation
 - ✦ Best Practices for Effective Feedback
 - ✦ Understanding Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA)

BENEFITS INCLUDE

- ✦ 24/7 Access to the Program
- ✦ 7.5 CE credits for each faculty who completes the program
- ✦ Unlimited enrollment with one yearly institutional subscription

Institution and individual pricing options are available, with a discounted price for dental hygiene and dental assisting faculty. Visit AALgroup.org/FCE for more information.
